

We want you to recruit your patients!

Mackenzie's Mission is a Federal Government funded research study that is investigating how best to offer reproductive genetic carrier screening in Australia.

Giving parents the opportunity to be screened pre-pregnancy or in early pregnancy to determine if they have an increased chance of having a child with a serious genetic condition.

10,000 couples across Australia will have screening free of charge. Information and support will be provided to enable informed choices about having screening.
