GPEx made it easy for ACPCC to leverage healthcare professionals in the fight against cervical cancer by offering end-to-end eLearning solutions tailored to their needs, including:

Scoping and needs analysis

Engagement of subject matter experts

Development of learning outcomes

Creation of content

Online course build

Preparation of CPD accreditation documentation

End-to-end project management

Secure hosting

Customer helpdesk support

Multi-channel marketing

Reporting against Key Performance Indicators

Impact

More than 3,500 healthcare professionals Australia-wide have enrolled in the three courses. Those who have completed the courses to date rate them very highly. For example, 86% of participants in the Cervical Screening, HPV and Self-Collection course said they would change their practices having completed the course, while 99% said they would recommend the activity to colleagues.

As for ACPCC, they are delighted with their choice of GPEx as their preferred eLearning partner and have engaged GPEx to deliver additional courses.
